VOTED: That Professor Howard be a member of the Athletic Board for the coming College Year.

For the Special Committee appointed by the Faculty at its last meeting, to act on conditioned students, the Dean reported that Mr. Shamiae had been notified he could not be graduated in June, 1909. It was voted that Mr. Shamiae be registered with the Juniors, with the privilege of taking such senior subjects as will not conflict with the make-up work necessary in his case by unsatisfied conditions in lower classes.

VOTED: That the petition of the Juniors Turner, Waldron and Schermerhorn viz: that they be allowed to take the senior course in agriculture, in connection with their Junior work in that subject, be referred to the Dean and Professor Foord, with power.

The Dean reported for the Committee on Instruction on the change of rules regarding cuts, absences, etc., as follows:

September 12th, 1908.

To Instructors:

Enclosed you will find a tentative modification of our present "cut" system. It is submitted for your consideration, and is to be acted upon at a Faculty Meeting, to be called for some hour on Thursday, the 17th inst. If approved by the Faculty, it may be thought best to try it one semester, before adopting it as an established system.

The following are some of the changes suggested:

(a) Allowed absences from chapel and assembly reduced from fourteen to twelve.

(b) Laboratory exercises put on the same basis as other class exercises.

(c) Penalty for "cut-over" from Chapel, college discipline; for "cut-over" from class exercises, lowering student's mark at end of semester.

(d) Assignment of power to excuse made to Dean, Physical Director and Athletic Board.

(e) Excuses, so far as possible, to be asked for in advance.

You are hereby notified that enrollment of classes is to be made at the first hour of recitation in each subject. Instructors are cautioned about signing any card not already signed by the Treasurer and Dean. A careful list of names enrolled in each subject should be made at the time of enrollment.

GEORGE F. MILLS, Dean.

Exhibit C.

Section 1. Attendance is required of all undergraduates at chapel exercises on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, at 8.05 A. M., and at assembly on Wednesdays, at 1.30 P. M. Attendance is required at recitations, lectures and laboratory exercises continuously throughout each semester, according to scheduled time-table.

Section 2. A student may be absent from ten chapel exercises and two assemblies in each semester. Whenever his unexcused absences from chapel and assembly number twelve, the student will receive warning; if there be another such absence from either chapel or assembly, he will be placed "on probation"; at the second such absence, he may be suspended from College exercises.

A student may be absent from ten per cent. of class exercises, excepting examinations and military drill, provided, however, he meets all requirements of his instructor for those exercises. Every unexcused absence from any class exercises in excess of those allowed shall entail a deduction from the mark attained in the course in which the absence occurred, in accordance with the following schedule:

3	points	for	each	"cut-over"	in	a	4-	exercise	subject;
4	"	"	"	"	"	"	3-	"	"
6	"	"	"	"	"	"	2-	"	"
12	"	"	"	"	"	"	1-	"	"

These deductions shall be made at the end of the semester by the instructor, before the term mark goes to the Registrar. An absence from an exercise falling within the twenty-four hours next preceding, or following, a holiday, or recess, or vacation announced in the published calendar shall be regarded as a double absence. No excuse, except one granted for illness, or by authority of the Athletic Board, shall be asked for before the number of absences allowed in any semester be exhausted.

Section 3. The granting excuses shall be as follows:

(a) The Physical Director shall have sole charge of all excuses for absence occasioned by illness, in accordance with the rules established by the Faculty, and shall report the same to the Dean's office. All physician's certificates must be deposited with the within two days after the last absence covered by the certificate, or they will become invalid.

(b) The Athletic Board shall have sole charge of all excuses for absence granted by them to the members of the athletic teams. The managers of the athletic teams shall obtain an excuse for absence approved by the Chairman of the Athletic Board, and shall deposit the excuse at the Dean's office at least twenty-four hours before the absences begin. A blank form for excuses will be furnished at the Dean's office. A student whose mark in any subject is below 60 % will not be excused from absence incurred while he is accompanying any athletic team.

(c) The Dean shall have power to grant excuses for absence for all causes other than the above-mentioned, with the option of referring to the Committee on Instruction cases upon which he may wish their advice or action.

All applications to the Dean shall be made in writing, and be presented in person. They must be made in advance, if possible. If by reason of impossibility they are not made in advance, they must be made within two days after the expiration of the period of absence, and must contain a full statement of the reason of the delay in presentation. A blank form will be furnished at the Dean's office.

Section 4. If a student, for any reason, be absent from more than one-third of the exercises of a laboratory or lecture course, or from more than two-thirds of the exercises of a recitation course, in any semester, he shall receive no credit for such course in that semester.

VOTED: That the words "continuously throughout each semester" be stricken out in Exhibit C, Section 1. The Section, as adopted, reads as follows:

Attendance is required of all undergraduates at chapel exercises on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week at 8.05 A. M., and at assembly on Wednesdays at 1.30 P. M. Attendance is required at recitations, lectures, and laboratory exercises, according to scheduled time-table.

2nd Section of Exhibit C by votes taken was amended to read as follows:

" A student may be absent from ten chapel exercises and two assemblies in each semester. Whenever his unexcused absences from chapel or assembly reach the numbers specified above, the student will receive warning. If there be another such absence, from either chapel or assembly, he will be placed on probation; at the second such absence, he will be subject to further discipline.

Section 2, Exhibit C was adopted as amended.

M. A. C.

My dear Professor Hasbrouck,

The Committee of Instruction, on June 24th, 1910, after considering in considerable detail the petition of the class of 1912 that economics be made elective, voted as follows:-

"That inasmuch as the class has not had a course in political economy, the petition be not granted."

Very truly yours,

J. A. Foord

JAF:W 1889

Chairman.

Reported to Faculty meeting Sept. 17.

To the Faculty:-

We the undersigned do hereby petition that the required course in Economics be made elective. (For the Class of 1912.) We, the undersigned, make this petition because we believe our class has had as much of this kind of work as is now required of the under-class men."

Dear Professor Hasbrouck, The quotation cited above I have just had copied from the Junior petition of last June concerning the course in Economics, or Pol. Sci. 1. The meaning conveyed, you will see, is different from that in the minutes read at the last faculty meeting. The petition asks that the course be made elective for the class of 1912. The reason given is that the class already had an equivalent of Pol. Sci. 1, i.e. had taken as Freshmen Pol. Sci. 4(?) then required, but now Elective.

Very truly yours,
E. K. Eyerly.

President Butterfield said that the meeting had been called to consider the matter of cribbing and that the student body would be represented by a Committee which was ready to present the student's side of the case to the Faculty. The Committee consisted of Mr. Bursley, Mr. Blaney, Mr. Baker, Mr. Parker, Mr. Wales and Mr. Griggs. They gave to the Faculty their views concerning cribbing and the reason for its existing to such a considerable extent at the college. Among other ideas advanced by the students was that a proctor system should be established and the abolishment of the 60% grade for passing finals.

Mr. Parker said that the present conditions were entirely unfair to the honest men.

Remarks were made on the subject by Dr. Lindsey and Professor Hurd. Professor Hurd said that the Committee on Student Activities had had several informal meetings and from the discussions so held he gathered that the students ideas might be summed up as follows:

1. Final examinations count to much.

The minutes of the meetings of November 7th, November 28th, December 9th and January 23rd were read and approved.

The Schedule Committee reported the schedule to be presumably in the hands of the printers.

The Committee on Course of Study reported the following:

1. VOTED: To approve of the substitution of the subject matter of Landscape Gardening (8) as described for Landscape Gardening Course (6), for the second semester of 1910-1911.

2. VOTED: That the Secretary of this Committee correspond with the Faculty of Amherst College with a view to the appointment of a Committee on their part to act with our Committee on a plan for the exchange of credits between the two colleges.

The following report was given as having been adopted by the Committee, with respect to the valuation of courses. The Committee on Course of Study would report the following as their interpretation of the statements made in the catalogue:

3. (1.) The wish of the faculty with respect to the relative values of the different courses is fully expressed in the published cirriculum of the College. The faculty has obviously intended each four-credit course to have twice the value, and to represent twice the amount of work, as each two-credit course.

(2.) The Committee believes, however, that the enforcement of this legislation lies with the executive branch of the College government; but the Committee would respectfully suggest that occasional statistical surveys be made to determine whether the courses are being equably administered, and that any serious discrepancies be corrected so far as possible by the executive.

(3.) In interpreting the curriculum of studies the committe understands it to be the intent of faculty legislation that

(a) each lecture or recitation hour is to count one credit;

(b) two hours spent in library, laboratory or field work under the direct charge of an instructor is to count one credit;

(c) the average student should be expected to give one hour of outside work or preparation for each lecture or recitation period;

(d) in general no outside preparation is to be required of students for two-hour laboratory or field periods.

The Committee recommends, however, that the three points, viz; (a) the ratio between laboratory and lecture hours, (b) the minimum number of credit hours required, (c) the number of hours of preparation expected for each credit hour, be referred back to the committee for further consideration and possible revision.

The Committee reported a vote that the petition of Dr. Paige requesting permission to introduce a new course in Bacteriology of three two hour periods per week for the second semester 1910-1911 be referred to the President with the recommendation of the Committee for favorable action.

The Committee VOTED that the petition of Professor Neal in regard to changes in Freshman English be laid upon the table until the whole matter of Freshman Courses is considered by the Committee.

It was VOTED that the opinion of the Committee is favorable to the change of CHAPEL hour to the old time.

In connection with a communication from the president of Amherst College in reply to the letter from this Committee in regard to the action of November 29th on "EXCHANGE OF CREDITS", it was voted that the Chairman take up the matter with the Committee of Amherst College and arrange for a meeting with them.

It was VOTED that the Faculty authorize the above substitution.

It was VOTED that the petition of 11 students asking for two laboratory periods instead of one in Botany (5) making a total of three credits instead of two, be granted.

It was VOTED that the Committee on Course of Study have power to act for the Faculty in the matter of the substitution of one course for another, provided such courses have already been approved by the Faculty, and to adjust the hours of courses already established and approved but that in the matter of the establishment of new courses or the reduction in the hours of courses already established, action of the Committee must be reported to and ratified by the Faculty.

The first of these recommendations embodied the principle of establishing certain electives as early in the course as the first semester of the sophomore year.

To Those Not Members of the Associate Alumni:

About one-half of the graduates of the college are not members of the Associate Alumni. This is not a body of selected men standing separate from the others, but rather an organization through which the work of the whole is done. The alumni feel your absence, and invite your co-operation. We need your dollar to support the work. We need much more your sympathetic co-operation that goes with the dollar. We want to put one of the new buttons on your coat. Obviously it is quite impossible to hand them out to every one as we have done the large buttons at commencement because of their higher cost. You do not want the other men to give you one of these buttons; you had much rather pay for it yourself.

Please receive the enclosed bill in the friendly spirit in which it is sent you.

For the Executive Committee,

C. A. Peters, '97, Secretary.

2. Shall special privileges in the way of remission of non-eligibility to student activities be granted to other students failing in any of the recent semester examinations, whose term mark was reasonably satisfactory; (for example, approximately 75% or better), or in general to all those men whose college record has been good and whose scholarship, in the judgment of the Committee on Scholarship, is not fairly measured by the results of the recent examinations; this remission to be valid only until such students have had the opportunity for another examination in the conditioned subjects, after which the regular rules will prevail ?

VOTED: By the faculty to adopt the recommendation first submitted.

No vote was taken on Section 2, but it was VOTED: By the faculty that the Eligibility Rule be suspended until after the condition examinations ~~following the spring recess, in the cases of those students failing in the recent semester examinations just closed, and in consequence falling under the eligibility rule~~.

Dr. Wellington (on leave)

The minutes of the meeting of February 18 were omitted.

A special report was submitted from the Committee on Course of Study as follows:

"In reply to a petition from Messrs. Cole, Cristman, Gaskill and Harris which was referred to this Committee by the faculty on February 15, for permission to drop Veterinary Science(4) on condition that they give up credit in Veterinary Science (3), it was voted that they be allowed to drop Vet.Sci.(4) but that they be given credit as earned for Vet.Sci.(3). It was voted to recommend that the unit length of courses for which credit is to be given shall be one semester, and that when a student completes a semester's work, credit must be given for the course of that semester."

The faculty preferred to discuss the matter and vote upon the report in three parts:

1. VOTED: That the men mentioned in the above petition be allowed to drop Veterinary Science (4).

2. VOTED: That they be given the credits as earned for Veterinary Science (3).

3. VOTED: To table the recommendation of the Committee having reference to the unit length of courses for which credit shall be given.

On the motion of Dr. Paige, it was VOTED: That instructors be permitted to give courses in which two successive semesters work may be required.

President Butterfield reported the result of the last meeting of the Committee on Economy and Efficiency, and suggested that estimates would be asked for concerning the needs of the college and the various departments of the college for a period of five years, such estimates to include both maintenance and buildings.

President Butterfield apologized for notifying the students that the eligibility rule would be suspended until after the condition examinations on the supposition that he had made an error in notifying them in this way. Discussion developed the fact that this was the motion that had been passed by the faculty and that the secretary had incorrectly recorded the vote of the faculty.

VOTED: That the statement made by the President to the students be endorsed by the faculty.

Meeting adjourned.

VOTED: That the petitions of the men reported by Dean Lewis be referred to him with power, and that he deal with such cases on the basis of 80%. A student petitioning to take more than the maximum number of hours should have his petition granted only in the event of his general average being at least 80% up to the time of his making the petition.

Professor Lockwood for the Schedule Committee asked that the members of the faculty supply him with information that would enable him and the Schedule Committee to work on the schedule for the coming year.

Professor Gordon for the Committee on Scholarship reported for record the minutes of the Committee for the dates of February 19 and 25, and March 5 and 12.

VOTED: That Mr. P.F. Whorf be granted the privilege of taking an examination in Agronomy (3) on or before March 8 with the distinct understanding that if successful in passing the examination and if he remains in college, he be placed on the strictest probation including the distinct provision that he be denied any absence from any college exercise for the year ending February 1, 1914, and that he be placed under definite scholarship restrictions to be determined later by the Committee on Scholarship.

Meeting adjourned.

March 5, 1913.

Professor Lewis brought before the committee the question of the examinations of those students who have been ill with scarlet fever. The committee passed the following resolutions:

1. That the Dean be requested to confer with these students as soon as possible.

2. That all these students shall be required to pass examinations in the subjects in which they are deficient as a result of their illness.

3. That they be allowed, if they wish, to re-enter their classes this semester, provided they re-enter on or before April 7, and that they shall arrange with the Dean for the time of examinations in their first semester subjects in which they are deficient.

4. That students ~~xx~~ so re-entering should either pass a special examination in the subjects in which they are deficient, or, if they choose, be allowed to repeat any such subjects with the succeeding class.

The committee began the consideration of other delinquent students, and postponed their further consideration until the next meeting.

March 12, 1913

After the reading of these minutes, the Committee on Scholarship recommended: That all freshmen having entrance conditions, with the exception of those failing to present the two credits in modern language, will be required to pass these in order to register with their class next September.

VOTED: By the faculty to accept and adopt this recommendation.

It was reported that Mr. Dettmar W. Jones, 1914, had asked permission to be absent from college from about May 12 until the end of the college year. The settlement of this petition was referred to the joint committees of Course of Instruction and Scholarship to be considered and reported on later.

Dr. Paige, for the Committee on Commencement, reported that the Committee had considered the program for Commencement and graduation, explaining that the senior class had expressed a desire for an academic procession, and had also made the suggestion that the graduation exercises be held out of doors. Dr. Paige reported that the suggestions had been freely discussed, and the opinion of the members of the faculty committee was in favor of an academic procession of some kind, but that the Commencement exercises be held in the chapel.

It was moved that we have at the Commencement exercises an academic procession. After discussion it was VOTED: That the above motion lie on the table until the next faculty meeting.

COURSES IN MICROBIOLOGY

1. MICROBIOLOGY -- Morphological, Cultural, and Physiological.

Types of microorganisms, technic of handling, methods of culture, and functions of microorganisms are considered. This course is elementary and fundamental to all applied and special microbiological studies and therefore is made a prerequisite to lectures, text-book requirements and recitations; this time will be scheduled. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one hour of the six is is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Total, five credits. Open to Juniors and Seniors during the fall semester.

2. MICROBIOLOGY -- Agricultural

This general comprehensive course is designed to cover in an elementary manner those subjects only which confront the student of general agriculture--the microbiological features of air, water, sewage, soil, dairy, fermentations, food, vaccines, antisera, microbial plant infections, methods and channels of infections, immunity and susceptibility, microbial infections of man and animals, methods of control, or sanitary and hygienic practices. These subjects will be demonstrated by illustrative and typical laboratory exercises, which for each subject, on account of time limitations, must be very elementary and greatly restricted. Prerequisite: Microbiology, Course 1. Two hours or two credits are assigned to lectures, text-book requirements, and recitations; this time will be scheduled. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one hour of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Total, five credits. Open to Juniors and Seniors, during the spring semester.

Note. Courses 1 and 2 are especially adapted to those who wish a general comprehensive although elementary survey of Agricultural Microbiology.

3. MICROBIOLOGY -- Advanced Morphological, Cultural and Physiological.

The purpose of this course is to prepare the student for a more intimate knowledge of microbiological agricultural problems. To accomplish this object it is necessary to provide more advanced technic and methods of culture together with a more extensive knowledge of microorganisms and their functions. Prerequisites: Microbiology, Courses 1 and 2: Chemistry, Courses 5 and 6. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one hour of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Total, three credits. Open to Juniors or Seniors in the fall semester.

4. MICROBIOLOGY -- Advanced Agricultural.

A knowledge of the subjects mentioned in Course 2 cannot be obtained without a more extensive training in microbiological practices as found in Course 3. With this it is possible to continue the work of Course 2. Prerequisites: Microbiology, Courses 1, 2, and 3; Chemistry, Courses 5 and 6. Six hours or three credits are assigned to the laboratory exercises; only one hour of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Total, 3 credits. Open to Juniors and Seniors in the spring semester.

5. MICROBIOLOGY -- Soil.

Such subjects as the number and development of microorganisms in different soils; the factors which influence their growth, food, reaction, temperature, moisture, and aeration; the changes wrought upon inorganic and organic matter in the production of soil fertility, ammonification, nitrification and denitrification; fixation of nitrogen symbiotically and non-symbiotically; methods of soil inoculation, receive attention. Prerequisite: Microbiology 1. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one hour of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Open to Juniors and Seniors during the fall semester.

6. MICROBIOLOGY -- Dairy.

Special emphasis will be placed upon milk supplies. The microbial content of milk, its source, its significance, its control; microbial taints and changes in milk; groups or types of organisms found in milk; milk as a carrier of disease-producing organisms; the value of straining, aeration, abnormal fermentations of milk; bacteriological milk standards and their interpretation; ripening of milk and cream; the bacterial content of butter; a passing survey of the microbiology of cheeses; a study of special dairy products, as ice cream, condensed milk, artificial milk drinks, (the products of microbial actions); represent a list of topics considered. Prerequisite: Microbiology 1, and Dairying 1. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises, only one hour of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor; Open to Juniors or Seniors during the fall or spring semesters. See Dairying 4.

7. MICROBIOLOGY -- Food.

A study of food preservation by means of drying, canning, refrigerating, and addition of chemicals, will be pursued. Food fermentations as illustrated by bread, pickles, sauerkraut, ensilage, vinegar, wine, etc. will be examined. Decomposition of foods as may be seen in meat, oysters, fish, milk, etc., as well as diseased foods will receive consideration. Contamination of food supplies by means of water, handling, centrifugal separation, temperature, pasteurization; the exposure, diseased persons, etc. is of especial significance and will be demonstrated by laboratory exercises. Prerequisite, Microbiology 1. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Open to Juniors or Seniors during the fall semester -- will not be given during the school year of 1913-14.

8. MICROBIOLOGY -- Hygienic.

An attempt will be made to select for this course certain material which should be the possession of every individual, and which is basic to public hygiene and sanitation as applied to man and animals. The microbiology of water supplies, vaccines, antisera or antitoxins; the channels by which microorganisms enter the body, the influence of body fluids and tissues upon them, body reactions with microorganisms (susceptibility and immunity); the microorganisms of some of the most important infectious diseases, methods of control, including disinfectants and disinfection, antiseptics and anti-and asepsis will be treated. Prerequisite, Microbiology 1. Six hours or three credits are assigned to laboratory exercises; only one of the six is scheduled, the remaining five hours are arranged with the instructor. Open to Juniors and Seniors during the spring semester.

This course is planned to introduce the student to some of the essential anatomical, histological and general physiological phenomena, essential to the understanding of some of the simple general pathological conditions found in domestic animals. Some of the common methods of diagnosis will be considered in the laboratory. The various chemical and biological reactions and tests will be presented from the standpoint of pure science showing applications of chemistry and biology. The course will serve to liberally educate and stimulate in the student of agriculture the appreciation of some of the methods used in Animal Pathology for detecting and controlling some of the more common animal diseases. Lectures, demonstration and laboratory work. Juniors and Seniors, two three-hour laboratory periods. Credits, 3. Assistant Professor Gage.

7. AVIAN PATHOLOGY.(Course in Poultry Diseases.) The object of this course is to present information concerning the common diseases of poultry, their etiology, diagnosis and prevention. The work will consist of a systematic study of the diseases of the alimentary tract, liver and abdominal region, followed by a study of the diseases of the respiratory system, circulation and kidneys. The important disease-producing external and internal parasites will be considered, also diseases of the skin and reproductive organs. Lectures and demonstrations. Juniors and Seniors, 3 hours. Credit 3. Gage.

2. GENERAL VETERINARY PATHOLOGY, MATERIA MEDICA AND THERAPEUTICS.

In this course such fundamental and general pathological conditions are studied as inflammation, fever, hypertrophy, atrophy, etc. a knowledge of which is essential in the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of disease. The course in Pathology is followed by one in Materia Medica and Therapeutics, dealing with the origin, preparation, pharmacology, pharmacy, administration and therapeutic use of the more common drugs. Poisonous plants and symptoms and treatment of plant poisoning are also considered. Juniors and Seniors, Credit 3. Professor Paige.

4. THEORY AND PRACTICE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE: GENERAL, SPECIAL AND OPERATIVE SURGERY.

To the Chairman,
Committee on Course of Study.

Dear Sir:-

Mr. Sauchelli, 1915, has intimated to me that he, with some other students, is petitioning your committee for a course in Italian to be given next year, and that your committee wish an outline of the course that would be given. It would be an introductory course and would take up in the first semester practical exercises in conversation and dictation, the essentials of grammar and phonetics, and some simple reading. The second semester would be devoted to building up a reading vocabulary applying the principles acquired in the first semester, all the work being done as far as possible in Italian. I should probably use as texts the first semester "Grandgent's Italian Grammar" and a simple reader or short story. In the second semester, two or three well-known Italian authors such as DeAmicis or Serao. 3 hours; Credit, 3.

(Signed) Anderson Mackimmie.

EVOLUTION. A discussion of the subject from a general point of view, its philosophical and humanitarian aspects, its influence upon modern thought. The proposed course comprises two lecture periods a week, and would be open to juniors and seniors. It would be given during the first semester. Collateral reading from assigned books required. Hours 2. Credit 2. Dr. Crampton.

MAJOR IN RURAL JOURNALISM.

The proposal involves mainly an adjustment of courses already given, into a schedule program. The purpose is, on the vocational side, to prepare men to take up:

1. Journalism, especially in the smaller communities, with a view to developing (a) the social sense of the community and (b) the agricultural and industrial part of rural life.

2. Agricultural journalism specifically.

In method, the plan aims at four things - (1) Training in the social and economic sciences; (2) training in composition and literature; (3) training in the foundational sciences, especially as they bear on agriculture and rura l industry; (4) training in the fundamental technical principles of journalistic practice.

The results expected are: Preparation of men for a vocation offering a desirable means of livelihood and capable of extensive influence in rural affairs; sufficiently detailed training to equip students to enter the profession and work successfully in it from the beginning (positions and opportunities are open); and the development of a consistent program of study especially suited to unite broad social outlook, scientific education, and the impulse to public service.

This action seems necessary because there has been no chance to give a second examination in the case of Mr. Lundgren before the last faculty meeting.

2. Similarly, in the case of Mr. Rosebrooks, he may be allowed an examination in pomology(6), provided he present a notebook satisfactory to his instructor, but that he be required to repeat his course in pomology(4) to the satisfaction of his instructor, before being recommended for graduation.

VOTED: That this petition be referred to the Trustees without comment.
